Wichita Girl Has Possession of Small Plece of Radium.

A Microscope Was Necessary to Discern the Substance.

SENT FROM WYOMING.

ered. There is no other known substance, either artificial or natural, that has ever had the similar effects. It is said that the very smallest piece of radium applied in a certain way will burn the human flesh so completely and thoroughly that the body will fall to pieces as if the flesh were loose and dead.

The piece of radium that Miss Dryden has had during the last few days was so small that it required a microscope to see it. By the aid of the microscope one could see the tiny sparks shoot off in beautiful illuminations. The sparks that emanated from it were more than the human mind could imagine. The brilliancy of the light makes a lasting effect and one that impresses the eye as well and unearthly.

unearthly.

Radium has recently been put to splendid use in England for the curing of several presumably incurable diseases. Leprosy has been completely exterminated from the system through the application of this wonderful substance. Several cancerous diseases besides this one, which the best medical skill of the civilized world have spent their entire lives to kill, have been remedied by radium. In certain portions of England there are hospitals that are using radium, but, as yet, they have been unable to obtain very much of it, owing to the fact that it is not to be found anywhere in abundance.

The first radium discovered was in The first radium discovered was in south central Europe, and the discovery was a simple and, what one might term, an ignorant discovery, for the person who found it knew very little of its inherent qualities. It is now said that there is considerable radium in all parts of the world, although the asser-that there is considerable radium in all parts of the world, although the assertion has not been substantiated.

But the fact that radium a real live piece of radium, has been in Wichita for several days unknown to the citizens may now be looked upon with some interest. Now that it is on its way to the University of Wyoming and that no one was burned to death, and no one suffered from its terrible and unearthly effects. Wichitans may rest sasy. Even Miss Dryden its sort of glad that the radium is no longer in her possession. Since she come to think of it a thrill of dread and fear causes her to shudder when speaking of it. Still, it was an education to her in the study of the priceless radium.

TANGLED COURT CASE.

WANTS TO LEARN OUR WAYS.

Young Japanese Arrives in Newton to Educate Himself in English.

Educate Himself in English.

There was another Russian victory this morning, the news of which will hardly get into the big city papers. Ben Mears, whose Russian sympathies are well known among his friends, came into the court house having in charge a bright young Japanese whom he had captured on Main street. The young Japanerived in Newton Thursday evening from San Francisco. He has been in this country only seven months and has been attending a Presbyterian mission school in San Francisco. In that city he got acquainted with an ex-Newton man who, finding the young fellow bright and industrious, wrote to his folks here in Newton suggesting that they employ him to do work around the house. The reply being favorable, the young Japanese was sent to Newton by his brother and he spent all day yesterday trying to make someone understand whom he wanted to find. With the aid of the court house people he was enabled this afternoon to find the people he was seeking. His desire is to learn the English language and the customs of this country and he is willing to work for the opportunity. In his own language he is well educated, having attended a university at Tokio. He is as keen and bright as a dollar and he has a smile that is irresistible. He is the very personification of politeness and geniality and the court house people fell in love with him. In his dress he is scrupulously next and trim. He wore a gray suit, patent leather shoes and a Duniap hat. In response to a question he said he does not intend to return to Japan to take part in the war. He has a street who is now a leutenant in the army on the Yalu. He also has a brother in this country.—Newton Republican.

Rations to Be Tried.

Fort Leavenworth, Kan., May 3.—Major A. M. Davis of Fort Riley appeared before the army infantry board, of which Colonel J. W. Duncan is president, recently, with a new equipment for carrying army rations. It is to take the place of the old haversack, canteen, tin cup and meat ration can Meior Davis' equipment is made of canvas and has three pockets with different comparitments. It is held by hooks to the new clip belt and fitted to the soldier by shoulder braces so balanced as to equally distribute the weight on the hips. There are one large pocket for cavalry and mounted officers fits on one side of the saddle and the two small ones on the other.

The tins carry three days' ordinary rations and two extra emergency, making five days' rations in all. A most ingenious device with the new equipment is the entrechment tool, which resembles an Indian tomahawk. The cut or hatches edge is one one side and pointed of pick edge on the other. On the end of the handle is a brass screw head to which the baker or top of the new meat can isattached, which makes an engineer's shovel. The can shovel top can be used for baking and the bottom for a boiling pot. The old canteen cup is replaced by a tin bottle of the lescope order and taken apart and used as a cap.

Neil and Harry Forbes later met at San Francisco, and Neil won the championship by knocking Forbes out in the second round. Harry always claimed he was not given the full count and that he was rendy to fight had he been properly warned that it was time to continue. Forbes says Neil is the only fighter in the world for whom he will make 116 pounds. He says he is confident he can beat him at any figure.
